

A MONTHLY SECTION OF NEW YORK REAL ESTATE JOURNAL

GREEN BUILDING

Real Estate Journal

THE LARGEST COMMERCIAL/INVESTMENT NEWSPAPER COVERING THE STATE

June 28 - July 11, 2011

Planned Companies unveils new green O.R.A.C.L.E. facility in New Jersey

Shown (from left) are: David Epstein, mayor Barberio, Rob Francis, Michael Mendillo and Robert Peluso.

PARSIPPANY, NJ Planned Cos. unveiled its O.R.A.C.L.E. facility, one of the first hands-on real estate and “green” educational and training centers in N.J., following the ribbon cutting ceremony and grand opening celebration at the company’s headquarters at 150 Smith Rd.

On May 19, Planned Cos. held a ribbon cutting celebration which included a keynote address by mayor James Barberio, who expanded on the many positive contributions that Planned has made towards “green” awareness. He also stressed the importance of professional development through continued education.

“With businesses such as Planned implementing sustainable initiatives, Parsippany has earned the distinction of the very prestigious Sustainable Jersey Certification in its first year, becoming one of the 28 towns out of 240 registered municipalities,” said Barberio.

•for full story visit nyrej.com•